

Please do not take control of this issue to the Federal level. Each state should be empowered to enact laws that protect their residents. It is my understanding that the law being considered by the Federal government affords less protection from solicitors as it relates to telephone privacy. We cannot afford a lower level of protection.